

Week 4 GJ - Saaif Ahmed

Mon (10/5/20):

I am grateful for my friends bringing me to Walmart. I had to get a new shirt for my dance practice because I didn't have any pastel clothes. So after we got our groceries my friends helped me pick out a shirt and it's actually pretty nice although I don't normally wear the color.

Tue (10/6/20):

I am grateful for Lutron reaching out to me to gauge interest in a summer job. I need a professional experience and I would love to work with Lutron. I am also grateful for Halal Shack because I had that for dinner and it was pretty good.

Wed (10/7/20):

I am grateful for not losing power during the storm. I had tests and homework as many other students but I didn't lose power. So I was able to keep my schedule as normal. I am grateful for my friends helping me prepare for my multi test.

Thurs (10/8/20):

I am grateful that my homework was delayed. With that I am able to study for my test tomorrow and attempt to prepare for the test. I am also grateful for my friends reminding me to put in my information for DIAL. I'm still technically not allowed on campus so I need to fix that.

Fri (10/9/20):

I am grateful for quite a few things today. I am grateful my test was delayed. I was not ready to take the test and now I have more time to study. I am also grateful for my friend making gumbo again. Dinner rocked and that's pretty much it. I also am happy that this is a 3 day weekend.
